Step By Step Instructions

1. Put glitter into a bowl big enough to take your Decofoam ball.
2. Pour some PVA glue into a saucer.
3. Cut out antlers - cut your 2 chenille sticks in half (set aside 2 halves as your main stem), now cut the other two halves (1 piece being 1 third making the top smaller antler / other piece 2 thirds - making the lower bigger part of the antler).

4. Tie off at the end the gold cord to make your hanging loop (cut off any excess).
5. Glitter the ball: brush on some glue on bottom of ball and dip into glitter.
6. Stick the skewer into the middle of glittered part. Using skewer as a handle to make your glittering a tidier experience, brush glue onto rest of ball then dip into glitter until evenly covered. Set aside to dry.
7. The skewered end is now the top of your reindeer.
8. When the ball is dry, stick on eyes (use a little hot glue to fasten eyes to glitter).

9. Using hot glue, stick on a red pom-pom nose.
10. Pull out the skewer. Push a plain silver sewing pin through the knot and push this into the hole where the skewer had been at the top of the ball.
11. Antlers can now be assembled. Once made, the wire in chenille sticks can be pushed into the ball to anchor the antlers to the head.
12. To make antlers just twist the small 1/3 piece around the main stem and do the same with the longer 2/3 piece lower down. Space the main stem into quarters to place each piece and the bottom quarter sticks into the ball. Then curve them up a little to look more like an antler.
